And now for something entirely new..... We're happy to announce the First Annual Milton Players Craft Show on Saturday November 12th. This year we will hold a craft show at Cunningham Park hall. We are looking for talented crafters of all types to come and host a table. The fee for crafters is $25 plus a donation of a craft (like value to what's being sold) for our charity auction. All proceeds to go to an important charity near to the hearts of the Players. Anyone wishing to simply donate to the auction without hosting a table is most welcome as well. The Players have donated a pair of Season Subscription tickets to the auction. Applications are available on our website <http://miltonplayers.org> and will be available at the general meeting as well. The Players will host our usual Kitchen fare as well as a Bake Table. (Homemade, wrapped donations welcome) Admission to the show is just $1.00. Spread the word to your friends who are crafty or just ready for holiday shopping.

Update on the Board of Directors. After many years of serving as our trusty Board Treasurer, Mary Quatromoni will take a break. We are fortunate to have Pat Brawley stepping up to the plate and relieving Mary of the coffers. Pat will also be computerizing our books for us. Thanks and welcome back to the Board, Pat.

On Stage this Fall – Milton members appearing on other stages include:

Peter Martin in Footlight Club's All My Sons

Marianne Withington and Pat Brawley in NQAT's Night Watch directed by FrankMoffett

Cathy Larson in Curtain Call's All My Sons

Steven Key in Footlight Club's West Side Story

Renovations – the New, renovated Milton Players website has undergone a tremendous transformation. Many thanks to Tom Coon who graciously volunteered to be our new Webmaster. He has brought our website into the new Millennium with his many talents. Check it out; we're sure you'll be impressed! <http://miltonplayers.org>. Anything you need to find out about what the Players are up to is right there.

More steps into technology. This year, we have added the availability of our Season Subscriptions to TicketStage. Now theatre buffs are able to purchase Season Subscriptions on-line with a credit card in addition to individual tickets. We're hoping to see a boost in our sales with this enhancement. Thanks to Christine Mallett and Tom Coon for much effort that went into that project.
